Philippine Consulate's request to Labour Department:

Annual checkup for Pinoy helpers

By Cheryl M. Arcibal

PHILIPPINE officials have requested the Hong Kong government to make mandatory an annual medical check up for Filipino domestic helpers following the "higher number of deaths" among them.

Consul-General Bernardita Catalla told Hong Kong News that she and other officials of the Philippine Consulate met with Hong Kong Labour officials led by Secretary Dr. Law Chi-kwong on Aug. 30 to discuss the welfare and protection of Filipino domestic helpers in the city.

"There was an agreement that domestic helpers should be protected and welfare should be further improved," Catalla said.

She added that she asked that an initiative be taken so Filipino domestic workers could have an annual medical checkup.

"I noticed that in recent months, there was a higher number of deaths among Filipino domestic workers. They sleep at night, the following day, they don't wake up and the employer opens the bedroom and sees the worker lying dead and not breathing.

"I asked them to consider a [system] so that workers could go through annual medical checkup. The long working hours could lead to some natural causes of

Settlement in Pinay vocal coach's suit

By Ally Constantino

A Chinese vocal coach who was ordered to pay $10,000 in damages to a Filipino vocal teacher withdrew his appeal from the High Court.

On Aug. 16, the lawyer of Choi Jeffrey Tse-fu informed the court that his client would be settling with Christine Diaz, also known as Christine Samson. The parties, however, did not disclose the details of the settlement between Choi and Samson.

In November, Deputy District Court Judge Ho Wai-yang said there were no basis to the four grounds submitted by defendant Choi Jeffrey Tse-fu to appeal her February 5, 2016 judgment ordering him to pay $10,000 to Christine Diaz, also known as Christine Samson.

Judge Ho said she did not find "any reasonable prospect of success on these intended grounds of appeal."

In seeking a leave to appeal against the judgment, Choi said Judge Ho made a wrong assessment of damages; erred in holding that the statements were defamatory; erred in inferring malice; and erred in granting the injunction.

The case stemmed from a recording of the lesson Choi, a certified Speech Level Singing instructor from 2010 to 2013, gave to his student, Karen, on Aug. 27, 2012, when he referred to Diaz in the latter part of his lecture to the student after labeling as "elderly teachers" or "those who received their teaching from teachers who had not been privy to the scientific methods of vocal training."

Choi, who started his vocal training career in 2010, also specifically said that scientific techniques were only developed in the last 30 years, and that while elderly teachers might have the correct concept, their way or technique was wrong.

Before beginning her career as a vocal instructor in 1990, Diaz was a professional singer, having been a member of bands since 1965.

From 2004 to 2009, Diaz was also a certified SLS instructor. She has also developed her own method of vocal training and named it the "Samson's Vocal Technique".

In January 2013, Diaz and her staff received an email from Fiona Fu with a copy of the edited recording of Choi's lecture to Karen attached. It was also subsequently discovered that the edited recording was an edited version of an original recording.

In his defense, Choi said the reference to Diaz was only to explain what a "light mix" voice sounds like, citing artists Michael Jackson, Sandy Lam Yik Leen, Faye Wong, and Bee Gees as artists with a light voice.

Mariah Carey and Celine Dion, on the other hand, were mentioned as those who have a "chest mixed voice".

In the original judgment, Judge Ho said she found that Choi's remarks were "derogatory in nature", "lack factual basis", and that there was a "lack of necessity for making such statements in providing an explanation to mixed voices."

Employer rejects agreement with FDH

By Cheryl M. Arcibal

A Chinese employer on Aug. 17 refused to pay $103,000 or settle with a Filipino domestic helper who sued him before the Labour Tribunal.

Despite warnings from Principal Presiding Officer Ho Wai-yang that refusal to settle would mean a number of inconveniences and that he would be unable to collect any money from Filipino domestic helper A. Elbanbuena from his counter-claim, employer H.Y. Yuen said he wanted "justice". Judge Ho said the parties would be spending time, effort, and money in preparation for the hearings. "The other matter is obviously the dispute of facts alleged are so extreme that there can only one accepted version of events," said Judge Ho.

"In other words, under litigation, it's either a party wins everything or loses everything. There is no middle ground," she added.

The judge also warned Elbanbuena that while she was acquitted of theft by a Kowloon Court, the bar was much lower in a civil litigation.

After giving these warnings, Judge Ho then gave the two parties time to think about settling the cases.

The two parties stepped outside the court room, but did not talk with one another.

When the hearing of the case resumed at about one hour later, Yuen said he would not settle.

Asked why by Judge Ho, he said he was doing so "for justice".

"What do you ultimately want from this litigation?" said Judge Ho.

Yuen then said he found unreasonable the claims by Elbanbuena.

Judge Ho then said settling or negotiations did not mean that the employer would have to pay everything the domestic worker sought.

Judge Ho then ordered Yuen to pay Elbanbuena $1,242.97 for her airfare and allowance, but all her other claims would be settled by another Labour Tribunal judge.

A mention of the claim and the counter-claim was scheduled on Oct. 12 in Court 9.

On July 18, Elbanbuena was acquitted of theft by a Kowloon Court.

Deputy Magistrate Vennie Chiu Wai-ye ruled that the prosecution failed to prove beyond reasonable doubt that the defendant stole the money from her employer.

The judge noted that despite the employer's statement that the domestic worker took the $500 in September 2016, she continued to employ her and only terminated the contract two months after.

Over 200 FDHs join anti-crime program

By Cheryl M. Arcibal

OVER 200 Filipino domestic workers have registered to join Hong Kong Police Force's crime prevention program, an official of the Philippine Consulate said.

Attache Luz Iglesias told Hong Kong

News that 93 Filipino domestic workers registered during the first batch of listing, and 117 in the second batch.

"The Hong Kong Police's initial target was 500 registrants, so with 210 registrants, we're way below the target," Iglesias said.

In its announcement posted on its Facebook page, the PCG said the program's seminars, initiated by the HKPF Central District, will be held on Sundays, once or twice a month.

The compulsory one-hour seminar will discuss four topics: local laws; traffic regulations; law and order situation, crime trend and crime prevention advice; and police procedures and services.

Activities will also include first aid courses, a one-day local tour, and joint sports activities or community services with police volunteers or police sports clubs.

Iglesias said the registration of those willing to participate in the program is continuing.

"We're still awaiting their schedule and the formal launching of the program," Iglesias said.

The program's mission is to "prevent Filipino domestic helpers from falling prey to crimes or breaking laws to unfamiliarity with local laws and traffic regulations."

It also seeks to enlist the support of Filipino domestic helpers to disseminate crime prevention messages to other domestic helpers, their employers and also to the Filipinos community in general.

In the last week of March, at least three Filipinos arrested by Hong Kong police involved in alleged illegal lending activities preying on domestic workers have sought a meeting with the Philippine Consulate General.

At least 10 persons arrested, eight Filipinos and a Chinese couple, in connection with illegal lending activities have been released on police bail and they were told to report to the police station by mid-April. Along with the arrests, police seized, among others, 242 Philippine passports.

On Mar. 14, police said persons behind the loan shark syndicate were estimated to have profited at least $2 million from the illegal activity.

Chan Hon-ming, superintendent of Organized Crime and Triad Bureau of Hong Kong Police Force, said the syndicate gave loans to more than 1,200 borrowers between March and October 2016.

All the borrowers were Filipino domestic workers.

Arrests were made on Mar. 12 after passports were passed on by a Filipino female to the couple. Raids were also conducted at various premises.

Suspended sentence for Pinay in overstaying case

A 51-year-old Filipina who was charged with overstaying in Hong Kong after being caught soliciting has been given a suspended sentence by an Eastern Magistrates' court.

On Aug. 15, Eastern Magistracy Presiding Judge Bina Chainrai was informed by a duty lawyer that the Torture Claims Appeal Board denied R. B. Limalima's claim.

The duty lawyer then told the court that the defendant had been imprisoned for three months in 2014 after she was caught soliciting in Wan Chai. When the defendant was arrested, it was also found that her visa had expired in December 2011.

"If she had pleaded guilty to the case then, she might have gotten a concurrent sentence," the duty lawyer said.

Judge Chainrai, however, noted that the case was different from the soliciting case that Limalima was sent to jail for.

"I have considered the mitigation put on your behalf by your lawyer and that you have been imprisoned in 2014, and at the time, you had a clear record," said Judge Chainrai.

The magistrate also noted that the Filipina admitted the other charge and she was sent to jail until after she was granted bail.

Judge Chainrai then sentenced Limalima to three months in prison, but reduced it to two months owing to the defendant's guilty plea. The sentence was also suspended for 18 months.

Limalima first came to Hong Kong on July 7, 2010 on a domestic helper visa, but the visa expired on Dec. 20, 2011.

Agri makes push for Pinoy food in HK

By Cheryl M. Arcibal

THE Department of Agriculture is making a push to further promote Filipino food and agricultural products to Hong Kong and the rest of the world.

Filipino exhibitors, with the support of the DA, participated in the Natural & Organic Products Asia (NOPA) held at the Hong Kong Convention and Exhibition Centre on Aug. 30 - Sept. 1.

Filipino chef Margarita Fores, the winner of Asia's Best Female Chef 2016, was also on hand for the DA's "Kain Na (Let's Eat)!", which showcased the diversity and flavors of Filipino food, held on Aug. 31 at the House of Madison in Wan Chai.

"The department has been encouraging, as a matter of policy, the growth and development of organic products for a lot of reasons. One, because it is cheaper for our farmers to grow organic products, and, two, the organic products have a premium price, so technically, the margins will be better," said Agricultural Counsellor Noel de Luna, who is based in the Philippine Embassy in Beijing.

He said that owing to Hong Kong's proximity to the Philippines, it is a "natural market" for Filipino food products.

"The end goal here is to empower our farmers and it's a growing phenomenon for Filipino farmers," he said.

Twenty Filipino firms participated in the NOPA, consisting of those producing food, beverages, and/or wellness products.

"It's hard to sell to a consolidator kasi the volumes are big so it's easier for them to enter the market through local partners and to do that, they need to get in touch with distributors, the institutional distributors like the supermarkets here," he said.

DA Undersecretary Berna Romulo-Puyat said it was time to be aggressive in promoting Filipino agricultural products to the global market. She added that she had been noticing growing interest in Filipino ingredients and agricultural products.

"I noticed that Hong Kong chefs were interested in unique ingredients, which we have in our country, and we're less than two hours away and Hong Kong is one of our major trading partners, so it's logical for us to be here," she said.

Meanwhile, Fores said she was excited to be the featured chef in the Filipino food festival, and to introduce Filipino ingredients to the global market.

"We're happy that the DA is helping Filipino companies in the food and beverage industry to push and advocate for our cooking and our ingredients to be known globally," she said.

As for Filipino cuisine, Fores said she would like to highlight its diversity.

"It is probably one of the most unique in the world because it's made up of so many different cultures and different influences, where there's a lot of Malay, Chinese, Spanish, Mexican, by way of the Galleon trade, and then American.

"So I think it's the diversity of influences in our cuisine, in our cooking that makes it a very unique cuisine," she said.

With this in mind, Fores is hoping to branch out of the Philippines and put up a restaurant overseas, and Hong Kong could just be the perfect location for it.

"Hong Kong is probably the easiest destination, the closest to us in the Philippines. And for me, it's going full circle as well because in 1982 and 1983, I lived here and when I think about it, this is where I actually began to appreciate what eating well and what good food was all about. Hong Kong has always been a very international food destination," Fores said.

Overstaying Pinay keeps silent in court, withdraws appeal vs sentence

By Ally Constantino

SHE appealed her sentence of 15 months for two charges of breaching her condition of stay, and possession of a forged Hong Kong ID card all the way through the High Court.

But in the end, she had nothing to say and was unable to convince the court that her sentence should be reconsidered.

On Aug. 8, Caroline Alcaide appeared unrepresented at the Court of First Instance, and when asked by Justice Audrey Patricia Campbell-Moffat what her argument was in saying her sentence was harsh, the defendant said nothing.

"The sentence is OK," Alcaide said through an English-Tagalog interpreter.

Her answer surprised the judge, as well as the prosecutors.

Asked why she said the sentence was OK, Alcaide said she was worried that instead of reducing her sentence, the court might impose a longer one.

Judge Campbell-Moffat said it was a possibility, but it was unlikely that she would do such.

Asked again by the judge whether Alcaide thought her sentence was "too harsh", the Filipina was seen smiling and eventually said she did not find anything wrong with it.

Asked to comment, a government prosecutor said the sentence meted out by Magistrate Colin Wong on Alcaide was not harsh.

Prosecutor Pierre Lui cited four authorities to oppose Alcaide's appeal against her sentence.

"Ms. Alcaide, you have three charges and the most serious charge was having a forged identification document...The magistrate could have sentenced you to 15 months and two months, and made that 17 months in total, but he did not," said Judge Campbell-Moffat, referring to the concurrent sentence imposed on Alcaide.

Alcaide pleaded guilty on Apr. 29, before Judge Wong for the charges of breach of condition of stay for overstaying, ing, breach of condition of stay for taking up unlawful employment, and possession of a forged identity card.

The Filipina was arrested on Apr. 26 in an operation conducted by Immigration officers at an office of the Founder Sky Limited.

During investigation, Alcaide's record as a part-time cleaner was retrieved.

When she arrived at the office at around 5:41 p.m., she produced a non-permanent HKID card, and admitted to officers that she had one more HKID.

Escorted to her residence in Kam Tin, the officers retrieved a forged HK Permanent ID card.

She then admitted that she was a former domestic helper and had overstayed in Hong Kong since Oct. 10, 2011.

She worked as a part-time cleaner for nine months, and she worked once a week with a daily wage of $300.

Immigration records then showed that the defendant last arrived in Hong Kong on Oct. 9, 2009 as a domestic helper and was allowed to remain in the city until Oct. 9, 2011 or two weeks after the termination of her contract, whichever was earlier.

However, Alcaide did not leave on or before the date required and was found to have overstayed in Hong Kong since Oct. 10, 2011 or for five years and six and a half months on the material day.

It was also found that between August 2016 and the day of her arrest, she was found to have performed unapproved jobs in Central.

Mary Jane's joy in helping the Mangyans

By Boying Cruz

HELPING the Mangyan tribe has been 'the mission' of Mary Jane 'Mjane' Cahilig for three years now, bringing her joy and happiness. Mary Jane is 37 years old and a mother of two who hails from Mamburao, Occidental Mindoro (at Sitio Sawmill).

Coming from Mindoro, she knows well the province's indigenous people, saying "I love the Mangyan people. I come from the same province where they live. I love to help them in the best way I know".

Mary Jane first arrived in Hong Kong in 2010 and worked for a local Chinese family until 2012. Ang pangalawang contract niya was for an Indian family until 2014. Pero ang sumunod niyang contract ay maituturing na special contract. Ito ang naging daan upang maisakatuparan niya ang kakaibang misyon. Paano nga ba itong naging espesyal para sa kanya? On wanting to have a better and a kinder employer in her next contract, she prayed to God and promised that if her wish would be granted, she would give food to 100 Mangyan people.

God answered her prayer because she was hired by an American family living in Muiwo, Lantau. And true to her words, she fulfilled her promise beginning in 2015 when 'Mission 1' came into operation as she, together with friends who called themselves "The Mangyan Tribe Team", visited Matabang Abra de Ilog to do feeding program and sharing activities for the Mangyan community. This charity drive was followed by two missions in 2016.

On September 2 this year, she again led her team to visit the community at Pola Balansay, Mamburao for their Mission 4 charity. The meaningful and worthwhile journey was clearly reflected in the uniforms they were wearing which states 'I learned to give not because I have many but because I know exactly how it feels to have nothing'.

Paano nila pinasasaya ang mga kabataan at pamilya ng mga tribung Mangyan? Sabi niya, "mayroon kaming mga feeding program, nagbibigay ng mga used clothes, mga toys, bigas at sardinas. May kusang nagbibigay rin mula sa kaibigan na pinanimili po namin ng kagamitan at bagay na itutulog sa kanila".

Dagdag pa niya "kahit simpleng mamayan lang ako at kami ng mga kasama ko nakakagawa kami ng paraan para mapasaya naman ang mga Mangyan na pinupuntahan namin."

The charity work of Mary Jane has touched the heart of her then American employer, the Welch family, that the family with their younger kids joined her in their charity trip to the Mangyan community during the Mission 2 in 2016.

For Mary Jane, who now works for another American family in Lantau, coming home for holidays is always a happy and fulfilling occasion. Makikita na naman niya ang kanyang pamilya at maraming bonding moments na naman ang kanyang sasariwain. More importantly, what makes this Mangyan project special is the involvement of her daughters to the cause as they are able to see the value of sharing God's blessings in their lives. Supor-tadong suportado siya ng kanyang mga anak sa gawaing ito. Ang panganay na si Debbie, 18 at kapatid niyang Rachele, 16 ang natutuwa sa kanilang 'family bonding with a purpose' moments. Thankful sila kay mommy dahil sa maagang edad ay ipinamulat na sa kanila ang pagiging mapagmahal at matulungin sa kapwa.

Mary Jane with the Mangyan kids

Mary Jane hopes to continue these noble projects in the future. She says that as long as she gets blessings from the grace of God through her working overseas, it is her turn to share these blessing to others who are in need.

"When God's blessings flow, helping others follow" seemed to be the motivating line of Mary Jane's generous heart.

Eating your heart out in Osaka

By Maia Lopez

FOOD is taken seriously in Osaka. It did not become known as Japan's food capital for nothing. The Japanese word "kuiadore" – which roughly translates to "eat until bankrupt" (or to put it mildly, eat until you drop), perfectly captures the spirit of gustatory pleasures in Osaka.

From that unassuming stall selling street food to the ubiquitous moving crab billboard, from the humble ramen house to the Michelin-starred restaurant where you can literally eat your way to bankruptcy, there is no dearth of delicious dishes to choose from.

Takoyaki and okonomiyaki are some of Osaka's iconic snacks. If there is an octopus sign, someone cooking takoyaki in round molded griddle pans could not be far behind. One order usually has around six to eight pieces of piping hot savory balls with a chunk of octopus tentacle inside, doused in a piquant sauce and Japanese mayonnaise and topped with dried bonito flakes and green onions and served in a boat-shaped container. Some jazz up their takoyaki with grated cheese as free additional topping.

Okonomiyaki is Japan's answer to Italy's pizza. It means to grill anything you want – shrimp, pork belly slices, and cabbage, among others. The ingredients are cooked in batter with tempura scraps, and topped with mildly sweet sauce, Japanese mayonnaise, dried seaweed, and dried bonito flakes.

No trip to Osaka is complete without a visit to Dotonburi. If you like to shop and eat, this is the place to be. At the heart of the Dotonburi area is Kinryu, a popular ramen house packed with Japanese workers, a sure sign that you'd get delicious and authentic ramen at a fraction of the price of more upscale restaurants. A floating dragon welcomes customers, followed by Japan's iconic vending machine where you would get a ticket for your ramen. You give the ticket to the staff in exchange for a number, and within less than five minutes they will call out your number and serve your chosen ramen. The soup is tonkatsu (pork broth) style and the noodles are served with thinly-sliced chashu pork.

Different kinds of sushi

Another famous restaurant across Osaka is Kani Doraku. Its original branch in Dotonburi serves both king crabs and snow crabs. The lunch set menu, starting at around 3,000 yen (P1,500), is less expensive than the meals served for dinner which can fetch for as high as 9,000 yen (P4,500). From boiled crab to crab tempura, to miso crab and crab sushi, you can have your fill at this store, as long as you make sure to reserve ahead as the restaurant is almost always full.

But if you are feeling like a crazy rich Asian, why not try one of Osaka's top Michelin-starred restaurants for a truly first-class dining experience? Fujiya 1935, with its spacious tables and wood design, has three Michelin stars to its name. A set menu for a 13-course dinner would knock you back by at least 15,000 yen (P7,500) – for this amount, you get to enjoy wild eel in yellow paprika sauce, sea urchin and small squid capellini, and lamb loin from France with chili pepper peach, among others.

So if you decide to go to Osaka, don't forget to bring your inner kuiadore, and unleash it in the second largest city in the land of the rising sun.

death," she said.

Catalla added that if the employer and the helper were aware of the health condition of the helper, the illness could be treated. As of the first half of the year, 43 Filipinos died in Hong Kong, and 39 of those were caused by various illnesses.

Also discussed was the growing number of cases of Filipino domestic helpers being brought by their employer to the mainland.

"It was the first time I heard a Hong Kong official mention human trafficking. Dr. Law said they don't know the extent of the practice of bringing maids.

"He said they have a way of knowing whether a helper is brought to the mainland for rest and recreation by checking the frequency of the travels. They can do that through the Immigration Department," Catalla said.

She added that the Hong Kong government was considering the possibility of imposing a higher penalty on those found to be violating the employment contract, which requires that a helper should only work in the address stated in it.

During the meeting, Catalla said Dr. Law mentioned "human trafficking" and the death of Lorain Asuncion, who was reported to have fallen to her death on July 24 in Shenzhen when she was taken there by her employers.

"Hong Kong has no anti-trafficking ordinance, but he (Dr.

Law) mentioned the word. Apparently, they are alarmed that it could be happening.

"He said they are looking at the frequency [of travels of Filipino domestic helpers] as a way to establish the fact that employers could be violating the contract and the regulation. If a domestic helper is doing work in another residence, then that's a violation," Catalla added.

Wage, food allowance hike
Meanwhile, a non-government organization has supported the foreign domestic workers' bid to increase their minimum allowable wage and food allowance.

Open Door, a group that seeks to promote mutual understanding and respect between FDWs and their employers, said they were backing the $5,500 MAW and $2,500 food allowance. The position paper was submitted to the Labour Department.

The group said some employers could bear the higher wage as FDWs take care of their family.

As for the food allowance, the group said domestic workers require nutritious food owing to the physical demand of their work.

"Apart from setting a more decent food allowance level, we recommend the (LD) indeed create a mechanism to monitor this and other conditions of the domestic workers..." the group said.

POLO transfer to Wan Chai awaits Bello's approval

By Cheryl M. Arcibal

THE Philippine Overseas Labor Office is awaiting the approval of Labor Secretary Silvestre Bello III for its planned transfer to a building in Wan Chai.

In an interview, Labor Attache Jalilo dela Torre III said they were targeting to move to the Mass Mutual Tower on Lockhart Road in Wan Chai by December.

"Pumirma na kami ng offer, pero authority na lang kay Sec. Bello ang kailangan. We'll probably move in December, because there would have to be renovations," he said.

If approved, the POLO would also be occupying two floors in the building, the same way it is occupying two floors in its present premises in Admiralty Centre.

"The rent would be cheaper by $10 per square foot. Here (Admiralty Centre), we are occupying 9,000 square foot. In Mass Mutual, we would be in the 18th floor which is about 8,000 plus square feet, and in the 16th floor, which is about 6,000 square feet.

Meanwhile, Assistant Labor Attache Henry Tianero has wrapped up his tour of duty in Hong Kong on Sept. 12.

Assistant Labor Attache Marnie Gaviola German is also awaiting word from Manila when to leave the Hong Kong post.

"ALA Marnie was instructed to stay put here until her replacement arrives in Hong Kong. ALA Henry has finished his stint here," Dela Torre added.

Duterte tags Iloilo City mayor in drug list

By Maia Lopez

AFTER the killing of three mayors implicated in drug operations in the Visayas and Mindanao, President Rodrigo Duterte has trained his guns on Iloilo City Mayor Jed Patrick Mabilog, whom he said is in his updated list of narco-politicians.

Duterte warned Mabilog that he might lose his life if he does not stop in his alleged drug-related activities as he tagged Iloilo City as the "most shabulized" in the country.

"I will tell you again, Mayor, I am implicating you. While nothing has happened to you yet, you might want to end your drug connections now," the President said.

Duterte announced the transfer of Police Chief Insp. Jovie Espenido to Iloilo City, but his deployment did not push through as Espenido opted to remain in Ozamiz

City.

Under the Duterte administration, Espenido has earned a reputation for hunting down narco-politicians.

He was police chief of Ozamiz City when Mayor Reynaldo Parojinog, his wife, and 14 others were killed in a pre-dawn raid. Espenido was also the police chief of Leyte when Albueria town mayor Rolando Espinosa was killed inside his detention cell during a night-time raid.

The first mayor to be killed under Duterte's bloody anti-drug campaign was Samsudin Dimaukom, mayor of Saudi Ampatuan town who died in a shootout at a police checkpoint on suspicion he and his security personnel were transporting illegal drugs.

"If you are a drug lord, you will earn billions. But in exchange, you will die. Let us not kid ourselves," the President said.

Duterte has already ordered a lifestyle check on Mabilog, whose house was described by the President as palatial.

"His house is like a palace. I asked the National Bureau of Investigation and the Bureau of Internal Revenue to check on his house," the President said.

Mabilog's house, popularly known as the "White House" mansion, sits on the banks of the Iloilo River. It has a declared value of only P3 million, but estimates by his critics place the value of the controversial mansion at P50 million to P70 million.

"I have nothing to hide. My house, while often described as a palace, is not quite a palace. It is not as big as pictures would make it appear. Last year I opened our doors to the local media for them to see the inside," the mayor said.

"Modesty aside my wife and I were already running a number of businesses before I joined politics. I was...living a comfortable life in Manila as an entrepreneur when I came home to run for city councilor. I didn't become rich because of politics, much unlike many politicians. My wife had to make huge sacrifices working in Canada for many years, while at the same time making wise investments that were reported in her income tax returns."

Mabilog assured the President that "not a single centavo of dirty money was spent" on his house.

Espenido, for his part, said he needs to take care of "unfinished business" in Ozamiz City before he can take on his next mission in Iloilo City.

Espenido said he is coordinating with the Criminal Investigation and Detection Group and the community to capture Ricardo "Ardot" Parojinog, a member of the Parojinog clan.

Duterte has earlier defended the bloody raid in Ozamiz City, insisting that drug suspects who put up a fight against the police should end up dead.

"The police and the military should make sure that their enemies are dead. Otherwise, if the other guy can still pull the trigger, you will end up with a dead police or a dead soldier," Duterte said

Trillanes: Duterte family into smuggling

By Maia Lopez

OPPOSITION Senator Antonio Trillanes IV has accused the Duterte clan of making smuggling a "family affair" as he dragged a presidential son and son-in-law in the P6.4-billion illegal shipment of shabu that slipped past the Bureau of Customs in May.

"This is a family affair of the Duterte family," Trillanes said.

The senator claimed President Rodrigo Duterte's son, Davao City Vice Mayor Paolo Duterte, is part of the so-called Davao Group that has been involved in illegal Customs operations.

Trillanes also accused presidential son-in-law Manases Carpio, husband of Davao City Mayor Sara Duterte and nephew of Ombudsman Conchita Carpio Morales, of receiving bribe money to facilitate the swift entry and release of shipments at the BOC.

The senator based his accusations against Carpio on the testimony of former Customs Intelligence and Investigation Service Director Neil Anthony Estrella who confirmed seeing the presidential son-in-law at the BOC. Estrella, however, denied knowing if Paolo has previously visited the bureau.

Customs broker and fixer Mark Taguba earlier revealed in a Senate hearing about the Davao Group's supposed involvement in corruption activities at the BOC. Taguba was involved in the shipment of the 605 kilos of shabu smuggled from Xiamen, China.

He, however, would later change his statement and insist that he had no firsthand knowledge of Duterte's son or his son-in-law being involved in any smuggling syndicate.

"I also hereby apologize to Vice Mayor Duterte, Attorney Carpio and to the first family for the proliferation of fake news arising out of my testimony at the Senate," Taguba added.

Sports Day brings more fun at DWEP

By Vicks Reyes Munar

WITH the objective of building camaraderie among the three batches of domestic workers involved in Domestic Workers Empowerment Project (DWEP) through sports, a Sports Festival was held at Sun Yat Sen Memorial Park Sports Centre from 7 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Sept. 3.

Dr. Miguel Manio, founder of the project welcomed the participants and gave details of the day's activities. He stressed the value of sportsmanship as teams competed. The 400 team members also paraded, showing off their colorful uniforms and banners.

Meanwhile, different teams participated in the volleyball and basketball games. In both games, the energetic Batch 3 emerged as winners.

Those who wish to participate in the upcoming activities of the group, please join the Facebook Public Group Domestic Workers Empowerment Project.

CARD Entrep Seminar inspires OFWs to be future entrepreneurs

EQUIPPED with the knowledge and skills they gained from the one-day Entrepreneurship Seminar held at Bayanihan Centre, 44 OFWs became inspired and determined to accomplish their planned business. For a few, the seminar gave them insights to run their business effectively.

The 44 participants who completed the training came from different batches of Financial Literacy sessions conducted by Center for Agricultural and Rural Development (CARD) HK Foundation every end of the month. Participants were categorized into three groups; 36 of them were without business, six with existing businesses in the Philippines and two going home for good. The training centered on the following topics: qualities of a good entrepreneur, types of businesses, business cycle, how to run and monitor a business with the family while abroad and business planning 101. Leading the training team was Jackie Tayaban –Center Manager of CARD North Luzon Cluster Philippines, joined by CARD HK Trainers who acted as co-presentors and facilitators. The groups presented their business plans, using the components of their agreed business as modeled from the Project Be (young professionals counterpart of CARD OFW HK). Group representatives defended their business plans to panel members.

Those interested to join the next Financial Literacy Workshop of CARD HK Foundation on Sept. 24 and Oct. 22 at Bayanihan Centre, Kennedy Town, please call 95296392/54238196 or message the CARD HK Foundation Facebook Page for reservation and inquiries. V. R. Munar

20 seafarers arrested in Libya

By Maia Lopez

At least 20 Filipino crew members of a Liberian-flagged tanker were arrested by the Libyan navy on suspicion of smuggling fuel.

The tanker was seized near the maritime border with Tunisia.

Navy spokesman General Ayoub Kacem said the Filipino crew has been transported to the capital to appear before the prosecutor general.

The tanker was loaded with six million liters of contraband fuel, he said.

Since Libya was plunged into conflict and political chaos with the ouster and killing of longtime leader Muammar Kadhafi, oil smuggling to Tunisia and Malta has become a lucrative trade.

The Department of Foreign Affairs said it is closely monitoring the case of the detained Filipino crewmen.

"The DFA instructed our Embassy to closely monitor the situation and extend all necessary assistance to our kababayans," the department said in a statement.

Dubai court jails guard for killing Filipina

By Maia Lopez

THE Dubai Criminal Court has sentenced a security guard to 27 years in jail for stabbing a Filipina 66 times in February last year.

The 24-year-old convicted killer, who was not identified, admitted stabbing the Filipina during a brawl, but insisted he did not intend to kill her.

He also admitted stealing the victim's foreign currencies, but insisted that he returned the monies.

The victim's body was found by her boyfriend, an Indian sales manager, inside her apartment in the International City's English Cluster on Feb. 18, 2016.

The suspect said he used a knife and a screwdriver and wore gloves as he stabbed the Filipina.

Meanwhile, a 32-year old Filipino cleaner was sentenced to 15 years in prison for killing the Filipina niece of his supervisor during a heated argument at the latter's house last year. The Filipino suspect no longer appealed the sentence meted out to him by the Dubai Criminal Court.

The suspect went to his supervisor's house in August last year to seek help in settling a 6,000 dirham penalty he incurred after opting out of a job contract.

The two got into a heated argument when the victim told him his supervisor was not home. The suspect ended up stabbing the victim to death, after which he ran to his brother's house and told his sibling to call the police.

The cleaner would later plead not guilty before the Dubai Court of First Instance, arguing that while he stabbed the victim in the neck, he had no intention of killing her.

Six Pinays rescued in Kota Kinabalu

SIX Filipino women from Zamboanga who were illegally recruited for prostitution were rescued by Malaysian authorities.

Kota Kinabalu assistant police commissioner M. Chandra said the women, aged 20 to 24, were brought separately into Sabah through Sandakan, Semporna, and Tawau after they were promised work as waitresses.

The victims, however, were forced to work in "pubs, hotels, and karaoke centers as guest relations officers and to provide sexual services" to pay off their debts covering their airfare to Malaysia. Chandra said the women were under supervision at all times and were escorted immediately home after their shifts.

A Chinese man and two Filipino women were reportedly arrested in connection with the crime.

The victims are staying in a temporary shelter for their protection following the raid.

2 Pinoys turn millionaires in Middle East lotteries

By Maia Lopez

TWO Filipino engineers in Dubai have become instant millionaires in separate lotteries in the Middle Eastern country.

Edmundo Catangay, a general technician in Ras Al Khaimah, won a kilo of gold worth P2 million at a raffle held during the annual Dubai Summer Surprises extravaganza of the City Centre Deira mall.

Catangay, who has been working in Dubai for two years now, said he forgot all about the sweepstakes.

He initially thought that he was just being pranked when the organizers called him up to announce that he won in the lottery.

The OFW, a father of two, said he will use the money to buy a house and lot in the Philippines.

The DSS extravaganza also raffled off air packages to Oman, Jordan, India, Sri Lanka or Lebanon to several lucky customers.

Al Ansari Rewards

Meanwhile, Al Dizon Bansil won close to P3 million in a promotional grand raffle draw for the Al Ansari Rewards.

"I prayed to win, and I did...This is a chance of a lifetime," the 43-year-old said.

Basil has been working as a quantity surveyor in the United Arab Emirates for 11 years now.

A father of one, Bansil said he plans to go home for a short vacation in the Philippines.

Aside from Bansil, another Filipino, Sylvia Lizardo Valdez, bagged a brand new Nissan Patrol during the Al Ansari gala ceremony.

Policy and cover-up

PRESIDENT Duterte famously said on Sept. 5 that two deaths don't make policy.

He made the statement as he denied claims his government had a policy of killing drug suspects after the deaths of teens Kian Loyd Delos Santos and Carl Angelo Arnaiz. But after that, the Philippine National Police said it was not sharing case files of suspected extra-judicial killings with the Commission on Human Rights without the President's permission. Worse, Mr. Duterte's allies in the House of Representatives on Sept. 12 slashed the CHR's budget to just P1,000.

Sometimes, we wonder if a "dilawan" was orchestrating all of these events because it exposes the administration to more criticisms that there is really such a policy of killing crime suspects and that it is even engaged in a cover-up. The deaths of Kian and Carl offer the most credible cases so far that state actors—the Calocan police—are killing crime suspects.

And what do the President's allies do afterwards? They "obstruct" the CHR in its investigation of the drug deaths by refusing to share case files and then practically abolish the agency by cutting its budget. One could ask—what are they hiding? Is it a cover-up?

These events could eventually provide the initial outline of the case to be filed against the President by his critics at the International Criminal Court for his bloody war on drugs. But at least, that group picture of lawmakers doing the Duterte fist pump after cutting the CHR budget should give the President some comfort. When the time comes to face the ICC, Mr. President, hindi ka mag-iisa.

Horrors of OFW work in Dubai

AT first glance, job offers in Dubai, one of the so-called "open cities" in the Middle East, look and sound very tempting.

What are these very alluring job offers in Dubai? Fly now, pay later. Big pay, eight-hour work as sales ladies, retail shop staff and office clerks -- jobs which are said to be much easier than working as "kunyang" or helpers in Hong Kong.

How true or untrue are these tempting job offers? Should recruiters who make these tall promises be trusted or not?

More often than not, recruiters who promise the moon and stars to job applicants can't be trusted. This type of recruiters only wants to earn money and they don't care about job applicants.

Instead of just believing recruiters 100 percent, applicants should do their research and ask -- if they can -- Pinoys who know work conditions in Dubai. To avoid being stranded and victimized in some God-forsaken place, it's best for OFWs to do extensive research on an unknown place that they wish to go to. Realities for OFWs in Dubai are harsh and much more difficult than work conditions in Hong Kong, according to Pinoys familiar with Dubai and whom this writer has spoken to.

"Finding work in Dubai is easy. Even if you enter as a tourist, you can find work as a sales lady or office clerk." -- This is what recruiters often tell job applicants.

But what will a tourist do after his tourist visa runs out? Who will help a stranded tourist? And if no help is available, what will a stranded Pinay do? Become a prostitute or slave in a foreign country? And will a recruiter help job applicants stranded thousands of miles away from home? Unlikely! Not all promises, especially by sweet-talking recruiters, are true and reliable. One false move and a first-time OFW or old-time OFW can find herself in very big trouble. Tempting job offers in Dubai and elsewhere in the Middle East should be treated with caution. If not, the consequences can be terrible.

Noon at Hanggang Ngayon

MINSAN natatanong ko sa sarili: 1972 pa ba ngayon? Pagsantabi ng human rights, kabi-kabilang pandarahas ng mga pulis at militar, Martial Law sa Mindanao at pagbabanta nito sa buong bansa -- ito at marami pang mga kaganapan ay nakakabahala dahil ibinabalik nito ang madilim na nakaraan ng Martial Law.

Ngayong nalalapit na ang September 21 at dahil mayroon pa ring naniniwala na maganda ang Martial Law, tingnan natin kung ano ang kanilang mga katwiran:

1. 'Mga pasaway ang pinatay noong Martial Law?'

Si Boyet Mijares, 15 anyos: dinukot sya at pinatay ng militar. Bakit? Dahil anak siya ni Primitivo Mijares na nagsiwalat ng korupsiyon ni Marcos. Kinalaunan si Primitivo mismo ay naging desaparecido (dinukot at hindi na nakita ang katawan).

Hindi pasaway si Primitivo, nagsulat lang sya ng libro. Lalo na na ang anak nyang si Boyet - naging anak lang siya ni Primitivo.

Ilan lang sila sa mga hinuli, tinortyur, ginahasa at pinatay na karamihan ay kritikal kay Marcos at sa Martial Law. Hindi ibig sabihin na kritikal ka ay pasaway ka na. At hindi ibig sabihin na 'pasaway' ka ay dapat patayin ka na.

2. 'Yumaman ang Pilipinas noong Martial Law?'

Mayaman naman talaga ang Pilipinas pero hindi iyon dahil kay Marcos at sa Martial Law. Noong panahon nga ng Martial Law, lalong mabilis na naubos ang yaman ng kalikasan at kapaligiran na dapat sana ay mga mamamayan ang nakinabang.

Kung talagang yumaman tayo sa panahon na yun, bakit noong Martial Law period din nagsimula ang pagdami ng mga Pilipinong lumalabas ng bansa para mag-trabaho?

3. 'Da best president daw si Marcos dahil marami siyang pinagawa noong

Martial Law?'

Marami nga naman pinatayo si Marcos. Pero ito ay galing sa utang na hanggang ngayon ay atin pang binabayaran. Habang pinatayo ang mga gusali at kalsada, mas marami sa pera ay napunta sa balsa ng pamilya ni Marcos (na pinakikinabang nilang hanggang ngayon) at mga crony.

Huwag tayong palinlang. Aralin natin ang nakaraan. Lalo na marahil ngayon na mistulang nagbabalik ang pasistang pamahala -- binabasura ang human rights, kabi-kabila kung pumatay ang armadong pwersa ng pamahalaan, walang pakundangan si Duterte sa pagbabanta ng Martial Law sa bansa, at nagkumpulan ang militar at dating militar sa gabinete ni Presidente.

Nauulit daw ang kasaysayan? Anupaman, hindi rin naman nawawala ang paglaban. Kung nilabanan at nagapi noon ang diktadurya, tiyak magagawa pa rin sya ngayon.

Dear Editor

Dear Joy,
May warranty ba nabili mong phone? May resibo ka ba na nagpapatunay na binili mo sa kanila ang unit na dala mo? Malamang na mero. Karaniwan ay isang taon ang warranty kung saan ay pwede mong ipaayos or ipagawa yung nakita mong depekto ng unit. Bumalik ka sa shop at sabihin mo ang depekto na nakita mo sa bagong phone. Posibleng ang naibigay sa iyo ay lumang unit or second-hand. Pwede palitan ng shop ng bagong unit kapag nalaman nila na mali ang naibigay na unit box. Pwede rin nilang sabihin na aayusin na lang nila at balikan mo. Ito ang importante na maipaalam mo sa kanila agad agad. Huwag mong kalimutan na kumuha ng kopya ng resibo ng shop, ito man ay replacement or repair, at isulat na rin ang pangalan ng sales staff na nag-aasikaso sa reklamo mo.

Tandaan mo na sa panahon ngayon, madaling gumawa ng 'clone/fake' na unit kahit pa mahal at kilalang brand dahil ang original at peke ay halos parehong parehong ang disenyo at pagkakagawa. Hindi mo kaagad na masasabi na peke and ibinigay sa iyo. Pero may paraan para malaman mo kung tunay ang binili mo. Check mo yung IMEI ng phone mo which is 'International Mobile Equipment Identity'. This is a unique number na nasa likod ng handset mo, karaniwang nakalagay ang IMEI sa sticker (kung Android or ibang brand na handset ang unit mo). Make sure na hindi tampered yung IMEI sticker. If the sticker has been tampered, you can find it in Settings > About > Status. The IMEI information is there too. Pwede mo ring dial ang *#06# sa handset kung saan ay makikita mo rin ang IMEI number para ma-check mo kung ang IMEI sticker ay magtugma sa IMEI sa loob ng phone unit. Kung magkaiba, malamang peke ang unit.

Maraming salamat,

Sana lahat ng amo ganito

By Imelda Mae Bustinera

NAGTAPOS ng apat na taong kurso at nakapagtrabaho agad ng may mataas na sahod kumpara sa iba ang natatanggap si Delia, 26, dalaga, at taga-Marikina.

Kuntento na sana si Delia subalit kapag bumabaha sa Maynila ay naaaburido siya. Simula pagkabata ay sinusuong na ni Delia ang baha tuwing may bagyo o kaya umulan lang ng malakas at walang tigil ng ilang araw.

Minsan paglabas niya ng trabaho hindi makabiyaha ang mga sasakyan dahil mataas ang tubig sa kalsada kaya nagpalipas muna siya sa kalapit na mall ay nakita niya ang nakaklase at nagkumustahan.

Naikuwento ng kaklase na umuwi ito para magbakasyon. Dalawang linggo na nga lang daw ay palagi pang baha kaya nakakadismaya at sayang ang araw. Ma-buti pa raw sa Hong Kong kahit umulan o bumagyo balewala lang kaya naisipan tuloy ni Delia na magbitiw sa trabaho at mangibang bansa para mamasukan bilang kasambahay.

Tatlong bagyo ang magkakasunod na dumaan may nataon na araw ng Linggo pero hindi namroblema si Delia itinuring na lang niyang araw pa rin ng trabaho. Nang ibigay ng amo ang sahod ay sobra sa halaga ng buwanang sahod kaya isinaulti ni Delia at sabi ng amo bayad daw yon sa mga araw na ipinagtrabaho ni Delia noong may bagyo.

Kapag may bagyo raw ay hindi sila pumapasok sa opisina pero may sahod. Nagpasalamat si Delia at nasabi na sana raw lahat ng amo ay tulad niya.

Ilang buwan na lang ay patapos na ang kontrata ni Delia. Sana raw pirmahan siya uli.

Salamat sa tiwala, kaibigan!

By Vicks Reyes Munar

SI Amy, 42, tubong Batangas ay higit apat na taon nang naninilbihan sa kanyang among Briton sa Shatin.

Masasabing isa siya sa maswerteng nakatagpo ng mabait na amo.

Wala siyang problema sa pagkain, maayos ang kanyang kwarto at maaga siyang natatapos at pinapayagan siyang maglakad na magsisilbing ehersisyo niya sa umaga o sa gabi pagkatapos ng kanyang trabaho.

Madalas siyang nakikisabay sa mga kapitbahay niya sa kanilang lugar na may mga alagang aso.

Dahil dito, nakilala niya si Lina at halos araw-araw ay kasama niya ito sa paglalakad.

Naging matalik silang magkaibigan at dahil sa nakakapagkuwentuhan, halos lahat ng tungkol sa kani-kanilang buhay ay alam na nila.

Isang araw ay nakatanggap ng masamang balita si Amy dahil nagkasakit ng malubha ang kanyang ina.

Dahil sa siya ay nagpapaaral ng mga anak, wala siyang ipon o naitatabi para sa mga hindi inaasahang pangyayaring tulad ng nangyaring pagkakasakit ng kanyang ina.

Bilang isang kaibigan niya si Lina ay naukuwento niya dito ang tungkol sa kanyang problema at laking gulat ni Amy nang hindi magdalawang-isip si Lina na pahiram siya ng perang kanyang kinakailangan.

Sobra-sobra ang pasasalamat ni Amy kay Lina, at hindi niya sukat akalain na aalukin siya ng kaibigan na pahiram sa wala pa itong karampatang interes.

Naisip niyang kahit na may mga pagsubok na dumarating sa kanyang buhay ay maswerte pa rin siya sa trabaho at maging sa kanyang mga kaibigan lalo na sa kanyang kaibigang si Lina na naging kakilala lang niya sa sandaling panahon subalit lubos na nagtiwala sa kanya.

Gagawin ni Amy ang lahat ng pagtitipid, upang mabilis niyang mabayaran si Lina. Nangako siya sa sarili na hiding-hindi niya sisirain ang tiwala nito.

Kulang pa ang sahod sa gastusin

NANG nakapagtapos na sa pag-aaral ang nag-iisang anak ni Sonia, 43, hiwalay, at tubong Iloilo, ay nag-isip na siyang umuwi.

Nangarap siyang magtayo ng kahit na maliit na negosyo para may mapagkukunan ng pang-araw-araw na pangangailangan nang hindi siya maging pabigat sa kanyang anak.

Nasabi niya na siguro naman pwede na niyang mapagbigyan ang sarili ng kaunting kasiyahan at mabali ang pangangailangan na mataagal niyang tiniis at pinagkaitan.

Subalit ilang buwan din ang anak bago nakanap ng trabaho.

Natuwa si Sonia ng malamang may trabaho na ito.

Pagdating ng sahurang kulang pa sa pang-araw-araw na gastos ang sahod.

Nadismaya si Sonia dahil akala raw niya at pinag-aral sa tanyag at mamahaling unibersidad, sinunod lahat ng kailangan daluhan at salihan na pagsasanay madaling makakapasok at sasahod ng malaki.

Pareho rin daw pala kahit sa mumurahin lang na paaralan mag-aral. Wala naman daw palang ipinagaiba.

Sana raw yung higit na halaga sa matrikula ay naipon na niya at iyong ibang ginastos kung saan-saang pinuntahan para magsanay.

Sising-sisi si Lisa

By Vicks Reyes Munar

SI Lisa, 35, tubong Cagayan, ay isang linggo pa lamang sa kanyang bagong amo. Natapos niya ang isang kontrata sa isang pamilyang may dalawang bata na super abala sa trabaho at mabusising amo kaya nagpasiya siyang humanap ng iba.

Napakarami niyang pinagpiliang amo at kabi-kabila ang kanyang interview kaya hindi siya nagkandatuto sa pamimili.

Naengganyo siyang pumirma sa isang bachelorette na may mga aso sa Repulse Bay.

Dahil sa walang mga batang alaga at aso lang ay nakumbinse siyang pumirma ng kontrata at umasa siya na mas magiging maginhawa ang kanyang buhay.

Ngunit taliwas sa kanyang inaasahan, non-stop din ang kanyang trabaho kahit na mga aso lang ang kanyang alaga.

Napakaselan din ng kanyang amo, napakahilig nitong bantayan at sundan ang kanyang mga ginagawa.

Maging sa pagkain ay kapos, limitado lang at hindi naman siya basta basta makabili.

Mabuti na lang at may mga kapitbahay siya na minsan ay inaabutan siya ng pagkain.

Sobra-sobra ang kanyang pagsisisi, kaya lang wala muna siyang magawa dahil may mga anak siya na umaasa sa kanya.

Naiisip niya na maling pili ang kanyang nagawa at lagging nasa huli ang pagsisisi.

Sa kanyang pagminilay-nilay sa gabi sa oras ng kanyang pahinga, naisip niya na sa paghahangad niya ng mas maginhawang trabaho ay nasadlak siya sa mas malala.

Nasa huli na ang pagsisisi para kay Lisa, sa ngayon wala siyang magawa dahil wala pa naman siyang kahandaang pinansiyal. Naiisip din niya na dahil sa kapipili niya ay nasadlak siya sa mas malalang kalagayan.

Ateneo stude ang Miss World Philippines

By Cristy Kasilag

ANG 23-anyos na dating court-side reporter na si Laura Victoria Lehmann ang itinanghal na 2017 Miss World Philippines.

Si Laura ang magiging representante ng bansang Pilipinas sa Miss World 2017 na gaganapin sa China sa ika-18 ng Nobyembre.

Hindi bago ang Filipino-American na si Laura sa pagsali sa mga beauty pageants. Bago sumali sa Miss World Philippines kung saan tinalo niya ang 34 iba pang nagagandahang mga Filipina para sa korona, sumali siya sa Binibining Pilipinas 2014 kung saan itinanghal siya bilang First Runner Up.

Sumabak muli siya noong ika-3 ng Setyembre taong 2017 sa Miss World Philippines at sa pagkakataon na ito, ang BS Psychology na estudyante ng Ateneo de Manila University ay pinalad na makamit ang pinakaprestihiyosong titulo ng kompetisyon na iyon.

Sa Question and Answer portion, tinanong si Laura ng host at dating Miss World 2013 na si Megan Young kung ano ang masasabi niya sa mga tao na ang paniniwala na ang mga beauty pageants ay hindi nagbibigay ng pagkakataon para mabigyan ng kapangyarihan ang mga kababaihan.

LAURA

Sa wikang Ingles, ang sagot niya ay "To anyone who doesn't believe in pageants, I would ask them to take a look at the girls that we had on stage tonight. Because we had lawyers, we had architects, we had women of substance who are here today not only because of what they look like, but also because of what's in their heart, what's in their mind, and because they brought forth 'Beauty with a Purpose' projects. They are here fighting to represent the Philippines and become the best version of a Filipina. And to me, that is something to celebrate, not protest."

Walang pinahalatang kaba si Laura nang sinagot niya ang tanong.

Gabby wins drama award

KAPUSO Network congratulated seasoned actor Gabby Concepcion for bagging the Asian Star Prize in the 12th Seoul International Drama Awards held on Sept. 7 at the KBS Hall in South Korea.

Gabby flew to Seoul to personally accept the award. He was recognized for his outstanding performance in GMA Network's top-rating Afternoon Prime series Ika-6 Na Utos.

The Kapuso actor is the only Filipino to win the award this year. He expressed his gratitude to the award-giving body for the recognition and dedicated the award to all his fans and supporters.

"I am deeply honoured and overwhelmed to receive the prestigious Asian Star Prize. Thank you very much to Seoul International Drama Awards for this recognition. I also thank all my Filipino supporters as well as the Korean viewers for recognizing my talent. It is indeed a blessing and I will surely treasure this award."

Seoul International Drama Awards is an annual TV drama festival that celebrates the diversity and creativity of international scripted programming. It aims to be a universal hub for exchanging TV dramas.

Horoscope

Capricorn
 December 22 to January 19

Kahit na gusto mong panatilihin ang low profile at mamalagi lamang sa likod ng mga eksena, lalabas at lalabas pa rin ang katotohanan na ikaw ay mahalaga sa trabaho o sa negosyo.

Aquarius
 January 20 to February 18

Ang pakikipag-usap sa mga kakilala ay maaring maging mahalaga. May mga plano ka at ang kanilang mga ideya o opinion ay maaring makatulong sa iyo. Huwag isara ang iyong isipan.

Pisces
 February 19 to March 20

Nagtrabaho ka nang husto ngayon, kasama nito ang pagtutuo mo ng pansin sa mga kasosyo at malapit na mga kaibigan. Handa kang tumulong kung may nangangailangan sa kanila.

Aries
 March 21 to April 19

Ito ay isang kasiya-siyang buwan. Ituloy mo ang paglalakbay sa ibang lugar o pag-iiba ng landas dahil ikaw ay handa na sa pakikipagsapalaran upang makaranas ng bago at kakaibang buhay.

Taurus
 April 20 to May 20

Tama na ang panahon upang pag-usapan ang mga ari-arian, buwis, utang, mga pamana at kung paano hahatiin ito sa mga kamag-anak. Ang mga sangkot ay maaayos at mapagbigay.

Gemini
 May 21 to June 20

Ang buhay mo ay bwenas at magaan dahil sa maayos mong pakikitungo sa iba. Parتهان mo ng kaunting bahagi ang iba sa mga swerteng dumarating sa iyo.

Cancer
 June 21 to July 22

Ang paglalakbay na may kaugnayan sa trabaho ay malamang na darating sa iyo. Masisiyahan ka sa mga bagong aktibidad na kasama ng paglalakbay.

Leo
 July 23 to August 22

Nasa mood ka para magpunta sa mga party at masaya ka ngayon. Hindi mo alam kung bakit nag-iba ang pananaw mo pero dahil masaya ka naman, walang masama sa gayon.

Virgo
 August 23 to September 22

Magkakaroon kayo ng mga talakayan sa pamilya. May pag-uusap na kasing-gaan ng pag-aayos sa bahay o mga bagay na mabigat dahil sa may kaugnayan sa relasyon sa isa't isa.

Libra
 September 23 to October 22

Kung ikaw ay nasa larangan ng pamamahayag, pagbebenta, pagtuturo, o pag-aartista, magandang kapalaran ang naghihintay sa iyo sa buwang ito. Magaan ang dating ng pera sa iyo.

Scorpio
 October 23 to November 21

Maghanap ng dagdag na kita o gumawa ng ekstrang pera sa labas ng regular na hanapbuhay. Madalas na gumagastos ka ng sobrang laking halaga.

Sagittarius
 November 22 to December 21

Matalino ka, alam mo iyon. Kailangan mo lang ng isang magandang pagkakataon at ang mundo ay magiging iyo. Huwag mainip.

What's Cooking?

Meat and vegetable combination is always a delicious and complete meal and this Sautéed Pork Liver with Baby Corn Style is the perfect example of this combination.

Ingredients:
 ½ kg. pork liver sliced into strips
 1 can Baby corn
 ¼ cup light soy sauce
 ¼ cup oyster sauce
 2 tsp. sugar
 2 tsp. dry sherry
 2 tbsps. cornstarch
 1 medium white onion-sliced

Procedure:

1. Arrange pork liver in a bowl add ¼ tsp. ground pepper, soy sauce and oyster sauce. Mix well.
2. Add the cornstarch. Make sure all ingredients are well blended. Set aside.
3. Meanwhile, heat a wok and stir fry onions, Baby corn. Add in the marinated pork liver with sugar and dry sherry until well done.

 4. Transfer to a serving plate. Serve.
 5. Happy cooking everyone.
